Hanover, Octob. 3. N. S.

ACcording to our Advices from Pomerania, it has been reſolv'd in the Confederate Army, near Stralſund, to attempt a Deſcent on the Iſle of Rugen; and the neceſſary Diſpoſitions are making for that Enterprize. The Hereditary Prince of Muſcovy is expected at this Place; but the Day of his Arrival is not yet fixed. Our Letters from Poland adviſe, that the Tartars continue their Incurſions along the Neiſter, notwithſtanding the Ratifications of the Peace. They carry off all the Inhabitants that have the Misfortune to fall into their Hands; for which Reaſon, the Peaſants dare not attend their Harveſt, but fly into the Towns for their Security. A Body of Turks are ſtill encamp'd near the River Pruth, where they are order'd to continue 'till the Muſcovite Forces have evacuated Poland, which they refuſe to do, till they are aſſur'd that the King of Sueden is departed out of the Grand Signior's Dominions. The Palatine of Kiovia watches all Opportunities to harraſs and incommode the Army of the Crown, and that of Lithuania. He lately carry'd off Three hundred Horſes belonging to the latter, and rais'd ſo great a Conſternation in the City of Lemberg, that the Inhabitants were oblig'd to keep the Gates ſhut to ſecure themſelves againſt him. He has likewiſe publiſh'd a Circular Letter, full of Menaces, wherein he exhorts the Republick to renounce their Allegiance to his Poliſh Majeſty, and declare for King Staniſlaus. By theſe means he has gain'd many new Adherents; for which Reaſon, General Ronne will continue with a ſtrong Body of Troops on that ſide, in order to obſerve the Palatine, and the Tartars. Theſe Troops are Canton'd, and are directed by his Czariſh Majeſty to ſubſiſt of their own Expence, without being burthenſome to the Country. The ſame Directions are alſo given to the Muſcovites under the Command of General Czeremetoff, who are likewiſe Canton'd in Poland.

From the Camp near Bouchain, Octob. 5. N. S. The Forage, which the Provinces of Flanders and Hainault, the Chattelanies of Liſle, and the Tourneſis propos'd to furniſh to the Army, arrives in ſuch Quantities at Marchienne, that a diſtribution is made for delivering out what is neceſſary every four Days; and the Troops have accordingly this Day receiv'd their Portions for the firſt time. Orders are ſent to the Governours of the Garriſons on the Lys, to ſend out from time to time ſtrong Detachments, to obſerve the Enemies Parties, and prevent their deſtroying the Forage the Country brings into thoſe Towns, in order to be tranſported from thence to us by Water. The Enemy, who give out that they will oblige us to decamp firſt, are in very great ſtraits for want of Forage, having been lately two Leagues beyond St. Quentin, and nine from their Camp, and brought home nothing but Straw. No time is loſt in repairing the Fortifications of Bouchain: The Breaches are all clear'd, and the Maſons are at work in facing them.

Bruſſels, Octob. 5. N. S. We have Letters of the Fourth Inſtant from Mons, adviſing, that Ten Squadrons of Confederate Horſe arriv'd there the Day before, and encamp'd under the Cannon of that Town, near the Fort on the Haine. Its ſuppos'd that this Detachment is made in order to obſerve another the Enemy deſign'd to ſend towards Maubeuge; at which Place, and Landrecy, they are erecting conſiderable Magazines of Forage and Proviſions. Our Letters of the Firſt Inſtant, from Valenciennes, adviſe, that the Garriſon of that place continue to work on the new Fortifications they are raiſing there between the Gates of Mons and Cambray; and that they are likewiſe repairing and augmenting the Fortifications of Conde. They write from the Confederate Camp, that no Change has hitherto been made in the Situation of either Army on that ſide. Notwithſtanding all the Diligence uſed in repairing the Fortifications of Bouchain, it is believ'd that it will be ſtill a Fortnight at leaſt before thoſe Works can be put in a Condition of Defence. 'Till that is done, the Army of the Allies will remain in their preſent Camp, where the Cavalry will be ſupply'd with dry Forage, which is deliver'd at the Expence of the Province of Flanders, and the adjacent Countries.

Hague, Octob. 6. N. S. The Deputies of the States, and the Miniſters of the Allies, have lately had ſeveral Conferences relating to the Affairs of the North, wherein it has been reſolv'd, that the Troops, which compoſe the Body appointed for the Preſervation of the Neutrality of the Empire, ſhall ſeparate for the preſent, and reaſſemble, as there ſhall be Occaſion. It is reported, that Twenty-thouſand Muſcovites, are to join the Daniſh and Saxon Forces in Pomerania, from whence we are advis'd, that the neceſſary Diſpoſitions are making for the Attack of Stralſund. The Nomination of Monſieur Buys, Penſionary of Amſterdam, who is intended to go as Envoy Extraordinary from the States-General to the Court of Great Britain, is not yet agreed unto by all the Provinces, but a general Concurrenee being daily expected, that Miniſter is preparing for his Departure. Monſieur Van Borſele, who is named by Zeland, to ſucceed the late Monſieur Vryberg, as their Miniſter in ordinary, came hither lately from Boiſleduc, and is ſet out for Zeland, from whence he intends to proceed into England in Execution of his Commiſſion. They write from Francfort, that the Electoral College have fixt the 6th Inſtant for the Day of Election, but as there are ſome few Points, which ſtill remain undecided, it is believ'd the ſame will be deferr'd to the Ninth or Tenth and no longer. Yeſterday the Earl of Albermarle return'd from hence to the Army near Bouchain.

Palmouth, Sept. 27. On the Twenty-fifth came in here the St. Nicholas of and for Bilboa from Exon, and the Jane and Mary of and from Guernſey with Salt, Andrew Woods Maſter.

Plymouth, Sept. 28. The Twenty-ſixth Sail'd the Sea-horſe and Delight to the Eaſtward. Yeſterday came in the King David and Anne from Ireland for Oſtend. This Day ſail'd Sir George Bing in Her Majeſty's Ship the Berwick, with the Breda for Briſtol.
